Pimpus 5.0 out of 5 stars It's extremely well constructed. I have it paired with an LG C8 OLED tv and the picture quality is sublime with Dolby Vision encoded discs. The player also supports HDR10 and HDR10 plus support has been promised via firmware update. The player is expensive but it's worth every penny and then some. The player is heavy at around 10kgs but it adds to the solidity and premium feel of the player. The remote feels good in the hand, it has an illumination button which I found handy while I became accustomed to the controls watching films at night. The player has twin HDMI outputs which is useful as my amplifier won't pass through a 4k signal. I have one output sent to the Amp for audio and one sent directly to the tv. Upgrading my amplifier is not an option right now as I just bought a new OLED tv and a premium disc spinner. It has left me poor, lol but it was definitely worth it. I got the player brand new from Amazon at the bargain price of 708.00 including delivery.

I didn't plan to buy it but when I saw it at that price It'd be rude not to. I've saved 200! on the list price That's how I justify the purchase to myself, lol My previous player was the Marantz UD7007, this player is an excellent replacement for that machine. The audio and video are better on the LX500 as technology has moved on. The player does not have any streaming apps like Netflix or YouTube but that's cool as they are in my tv. The player does support many audio and video formats via a USB port located on the front of the player. You can switch off the on screen displays whilst listening to music which negates the risk of screen burn on OLED tv's. All in all I'm really happy with this purchase. Rock solid unit with very nice output via dual HDMI's direct to our screen and AV amp. It doesn't use one of those pesky brick transformers. It's an unusually large machine, 435 mm by 118 mm by 337 mm, and it weighs in at a backstraining 10.3 kg. It draws 28 W in use and 0.45 W in standby. It doesn't have a cooling fan or, indeed, any ventilation holes, so Pioneer recommends installing it with at least 100 mm of clearance above, beside and behind it to prevent overheating. A Direct button allows users to switch off the player's video and digital audio outputs when exporting analogue audio via a stereo pair of RCA sockets at the player's rear. The player's other rear panel sockets include a second USB port, an RS232C terminal for home control systems, an Ethernet terminal, a zero signal terminal to optimize performance when the UDPLX500 is connected to a Pioneer amplifier, optical and coaxial digital audio outputs and two HDMI sockets, one that outputs both video and if desired audio and one that outputs audio only. Codecs supported include MP3, WMA, AAC, MPEG2 AAC, Vorbis OGG, WAV, FLAC, DSD, AIFF, ALAC, JPEG, MPO, PNG, GIF, MP4, WMV, AVI, 3GP and FLV.

On the video side, you can adjust output resolution, aspect ratio, dynamic range, brightness, contrast, hue, chroma level, sharpness, noise reduction, colour space, deep colour and HDRSDR conversion. You also have the choice of either outputting pure, reference video or a signal that has been optimized for either an LCD TV, an OLED TV or a projector. Three memories are available to store your preferred settings. On the audio side, you're offered a dynamic range control function, the choice of Bitstream or PCM and the choice of setting your digital audio's maximum sampling frequency to either 48kHz, 96kHz or 192kHz. You can also adjust the filtering in the player's Digital to Analogue Converter and activate a time delay to address any lipsync issues. I've been happy to accept all Pioneer's defaults, except that I've made three changes in the audio menu, switching from PCM to Bitstream, upping the frequency cap from 48kHz to 192kHz and switching the dynamic range control very firmly off. Convenience functions are all that you'd expect from a high-end player. You have adjustable auto power off, adjustable display window brightness, switchable automatic playback, switchable automatic resume, switchable HDMI control of linked devices, a parental lock and a screensaver. Playback options include repeat functions, a zoom facility and forward and backward playback with slow motion. The remote control can issue basic commands to TVs from a long list of manufacturers including LG, Loewe, Panasonic, Philips, Samsung, Sharp, Sony, Toshiba and, of course, Pioneer. This is the eighth video disc player that I've owned, and it's by far the best of them all. In a recent group test, What HiFi Home Cinema Choice magazine ranks it as inferior only to the DPUB9000 and Pioneer's range-topping UDPLX800. EISA has named it the best universal disc player of the year. Everything about this machine will bring joy to any home cinema fan's heart.

I love its majestic build quality, the silky smoothness of its disc drawer and the way it spins its discs without even the hint of a mechanical whine, hum or rattle. Its reassuringly weighty remote control too is first rate, with well-spaced buttons that light up if one wishes. Used with a display, amplifier and loudspeakers of comparable quality, it delivers audio and video that are pretty much state of the art. In its native form, the UDPLX500 will only play Blurays from Zone B and DVDs from Region 2. 4K Ultra HD Blurays have happily been spared the nuisance of region coding. I bought mine modified for universal playback by Paul Taylor's multiregionmagic in Peterborough. Mr Taylor's technology switches between DVD regions automatically, and allows you to switch between Bluray Zones A, B and C by simply pressing 1, 2 or 3 on the remote. My UDPLX500 arrived from Mr Taylor the morning after I'd ordered it, its Pioneer box swaddled in bubblewrap and scrunched up paper in a second, outer carton. Mr Taylor's courier was the admirable DPD, who helpfully emailed me to notify me of the one-hour slot in which my parcel would be delivered. I should add that I've found Mr Taylor very helpful as regards after-sales service when I contacted him a year after buying my player with a query about how to upgrade its firmware, I received a reply within hours. This isn't a cheap machine, but I think that, especially in multiregion form, it offers excellent value for money. It'll accept pretty much any disc that you're ever likely to want to put into it, it'll give you extraordinary picture and sound quality and it'll probably last for decades. I have a vintage Pioneer LaserDisc player that's still going strong after 22 years. I'd give it six stars if I could. Das von Pioneer für Anfang des Jahres versprochene Firmware Update ist such heute, Juni 2019, noch nicht verfügbar und der Support hüllt sich schweigen. Sorry, we failed to record your vote.

Please try again. Ho provato per entrambi i formati la configurazione solo audio e il risultato è straordinario. Come lettore BLU RAY 4K le immagini sono quanto di meglio ci si possa aspettare oggi, ho un LG 65 E9 e devo dire ad esempio che con il film DUNKIRK lascia senza parole. Per concludere è un lettore di assoluto valore degno sostituto dell'OPPO 203 e costruito anche meglio. Il venditore lo ha proposto ad un prezzo competitivo e la consegna è stata precisa e puntuale. Brava NETNBUY e brava AMAZON!! Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again. Aber erst nach etwas nervenaufreibenden Umprogrammierungen, die nur sehr teilweise im Handbuch aufgeführt sind und try-and-error-Verfahren benötigten. Bild von Bluray gut, DVD schon aufgepimpt, wobei 3 Videogrundeinstellungen mit Kontrast, Scharfe, Helligkeit etc helfen. 4k und 3D nicht ausprobiert. Wiedergabe von Jpgs von DVD ist aufgrund des Hanges, die Bildqualität mit Gewalt auf 4K aufzublasen, deutlich uberscharf und pixelig. Sofern man bildscharfe Dateien hat somit nur noch ein begrenztes Vergnügen. Ich habe noch nicht gefunden, wie man den ScharfeBoostModus ausschalten konnte. Ton: Hier holt der Preisdruck die Qualität ein. Pioneer leistet sich den Luxus, noch DAW-Wandler anzubieten, die eigentlich keiner mehr braucht, der gewillt ist, den verlangten Preis zu zahlen. Besser wäre gewesen, den Aufwand das Geld in eine bessere Tonqualität zu investieren.

ActionSound ist oK. Wenn man aber CDs, SACD oder gar DVDAudio einlegt und mit anderen Geraten vergleicht. Gut sie werden wiedergegeben, fur einen weniger anspruchsvollen Horer, der vor allem auf die Inhalte achtet und nicht auf den Klang ist das Gerat noch akzeptabel. Aber ehrlich In einem HighEndRegal hat dieses Gerat nichts zu suchen. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Die durchwegs positiven Bewertungen des UDPLX500 kann ich voll und ganz bestatigen.

Es ist ein uberdurchschnittlich gutes Gerat mit hervorragendem Klang uber Nakamichi Verstarker, Rogers Boxen und Bild Philips HDTV. Elektro Enzinger hat umgehend geliefert. Sonntag, 27. Januar bestellt, am Dienstag, 29. Januar Paket erhalten. So soll es sein. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Obwohl der Panasonic schon nicht schlecht war, liegen hier doch Welten zwischen den Geraten. Schon beim Auspacken fallt das besonders solide Gehause auf. Der Player ist sehr schwer und hat einen sicheren festen Stand. Das einzige was zu horen ist, ist die Ein oder Ausfahrende Lade, ansonsten hort man beim Abspielen rein gar nichts. Das war bei den anderen Playern, die wir vorher besaen erheblich anders. Gerade beim starten des Films, oder in leisen Szenen ein super Feature. Bei 3D Filmen dauerte es beim Pana schon recht lange bevor es los ging. Auch hier sind wir sehr positiv Uberrascht, wie schnell das Filmmenu zur Verfugung steht. Macht ein super Bild, aber das hatte der Pana auch schon. Sehr schon ist, das die Fernbedienung beleuchtet ist. Die liegt auch sehr gut in der Hand, ist aber meiner Meinung nach zu schwer gebaut. Dadurch ist sie sehr Kopflastig. Alles in allem sind wir mit dem Kauf sehr zufrieden Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Sehr gute luftlose Verarbeitung, Apps macht mein Smart Tv und Upgrades per LAN. Es ist eine reine Abspielmaschine ohne Plastikknopfe und uberflussigen WLAN. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again On se console avec lecouite en SACD, un son vraiment superieur au CD. Encore fautil avoir un bon ampli et des enceintes qui suivent. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Un unico pero su firmware debe ser actualizado por Pioneer pues hay problemas con disco bdxl, se atasca al cambiar de capa y se queda congelado. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Absolute Katastrophe. Gerat ging umgehend zuruck. Fur mich mehr Schein als Sein.

Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Mooie vormgeving en straalt kwaliteit uit, ik ben tot op heden zeer tevreden. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Mimo braku zlacz zbalansowanych xlr nie mozna nic zarzucic jakosci dzwieku. Przyzwoity DAC robi swoje. Obraz wzorowy. Godny nastepca dla OPPO 203. A moze nawet i 205. Gdyby tylko to menu poprawili. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Mag jedoch keine SACDR. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again. Send us an email and well get back to you as soon as possible. Due to the power outage and Covid19 please expect delays. Dismiss.
